Monmouth and the local facilities

Monmouth is a beautiful market town situated on the South Wales border, at the confluence of three rivers - the Trothy, Monnow and, more famously, the river Wye. The town is nestled in a breathtaking environment overlooking the hills of Abergavenny, Hay Bluff, and the Brecon Beacons to the West and, to the East, the Forest of Dean and Wye Valley.

The town has a rich history and features some wonderful architecture giving clues to its past as a defensive position guarding routes into Wales since Roman times.

The town centre is 10 minutes walk from the tipi site, there's everything you need cafes, pubs, restaurants, a camping shop and supermarkets. Every year there is a week long free music festival in the town around the last week of July.
